SWEPT BY THE FLAMES!

One of the Most Disastrous Fires That Ever Occurred in Bellefonte.

OUR GLASS FACTORY DESTROYED

A Sunday Afternoon Blaze That Laid Waste $70.000 Worth of Valuable Property—Bellefonte Central Car House and McCalmont's Ware House Destroyed.

KEYSTONE OIL CO'S HEAVY LOSS

One of the most disastrous fires that has occurred in Bellefonte in many years broke out Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock and before the flames were subdued property worth $70,000 had gone up in smoke. The immense frame buildings of the Bellefonte Glass Company, the Bellefonte Central Car barn and a ware house belonging to McCalmont & Co., with their contents were the properties destroyed.

The fire started in the central part of the main building of the glass factory, near the flattening room. It was first discovered by some small boys who were playing in that vicinity. Their shrill cries of fire attracted the attention of older people and the alarm became general. Both the Logan and Undine fire companies were soon on the scene, but the buildings being very combustible, and the fire had gained such headway, that it was almost impossible to fight it with any show of success, although excellent work was performed in preventing its spread to adjoining properties. The rapidity with which the fire spread was astonishing. It was discovered about 2:15 o'clock and at quarter of three, half an hour later nothing was left of the Glass Works buildings but smouldering ashes. The fire also attacked and destroyed the old steel mill, a large frame structure, south of the Glass works and now owned and occupied by the Bellefonte Central Railroad Company as a car barn. It also destroyed a hay shed and other small buildings belonging to McCalmont, with their contents. By hard work the old farm house occupied by Thomas Rishel and owned by the Bellefonte Central Railroad was miraculously saved. The family however had removed all their household furniture, anticipating that it would surely go. Just how the fire originated is a mystery. There was no fire about the place as the factory is not running at this season of the year. The compsny employ a night watchman but he is not on duty in the day time. The destruction of the buildings and their contents is almost total and the loss to the Glass Company is $50.000 roughly estimated. There was from $12,000 to $15,000 worth of glass in the ware houses, about $4,000 worth belonged to parties at a distance. The loss to the Glass company will be severely felt as they only carry $11,000 insurance which is placed in the agencies of W. B. Rankin, Grant Hoover and Geo. L. Potter.

To give an adequate idea of the vastness and value of

it should be known that the main factory, which was the most conspicuous building was very high and its proportions were 105x210 feet. It contained factory, a twenty pot furnace, flattening and cutting rooms. East of this and communicating above the railroad which extended between the two structures was a long, low building, 180x36 feet containing the pot room, engine house and sand room. Besides there were three ware houses dimensions as follows, one 40x66 feet with sides and roof covered with iron sheeting, and two each 24x60 feet. All the tools and other parapheralia which go to make up a complete glass factory were a prey to the flames.

The Bellefonte Central had several coaches in the car barn but they ran an engine down and removed them before the flames reached them. Their loss is $3,000, with about $1,000 insurance.

John P. Harris, Jr., who represents the Keystone Oil Company, had a large amount of oil stored in the Glass Works warehouse and the car barn. He succeeded in removing part of it. His loss, however, will be about $1,500, partially covered by insurance.

McCalmont & Co.'s loss will be about [illegible] on which there is a small insur- [illegible] A hay shed, two car loads of hay to get [illegible] and two sleighs were burned. and h[illegible] had goods stored in Glass the ki[illegible] warehouse which were lost. ney C[illegible]re some agricultural implements in the car barn but they were saved.

HISTORY OF THE GLASS WORKS.

The history of the Glass Works is interesting. They were originally built in 1868 at a cost of sixty thousand dollars. They were conducted with varying success up until 1886 when, on Sunday morning, October 10, of that year, they caught fire and were burned to the ground. The work of rebuilding was commenced at once and the fire was started in the furnaces February, 1887. These were the buildings destroyed Sunday afternoon. The works were conducted by different companies up until two years ago when the present company, The Bellefonte Window Glass Company, was organized. There are about twenty in the company, all practical glass men. The officers are as follows :

President—Oscar W. Hunter.
Vice President—George Rhoads.
Secretary—George Knisely.
Treasurer—John Knisely.

The above named, with the following, compose the board of directors :

Jesse Cox, Samuel Smith and Allen Weight.

It was the intention of the company to begin repairs next week, looking towards resuming operations about September 15.

The loss of this factory will be severely felt by the town as it employed about seventy-five men. It is to be hoped the management may be enabled to see their way clear to rebuild this important industry.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Walter Fanning of State College Loses His Life in Pine Creek.

A drowning accident occurred in Pine creek Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Walter Fanning, aged 27 years, a former resident of state College but who for the past 10 days had been boarding at Oak Grove, went to Pine creek to bathe, accompanied by a boy who is said to have been a relative. At a point opposite the upper Harris farm, and just below the old dam, Fanning, who could not swim, went into the water. He soon got into deep water and, as the boy who was with him could not swim, Fanning, after a short struggle, sank and drowned in water that was 15 feet deep. The boy at once called for help and a search for the body was begun. In a short time it was located, but being nude and the water deep it was a difficult matter to get it to the surface. After working for four hours dynamite was finally discharged and the body arose and was taken from the water. Undertaker Waters of Lock Haven responded to a telephone call for his services and took charge of the remains, taking it to the home of John Duff, deceased's father-in-law, Oak Grove, where he boarded

Mr. Fanning was expecting to go to work at the Oak Grove shops. He had leased a house and his household goods were expected to reach Oak Grove Saturday. He is survived by his wife and two children who are at Oak Grove and one brother Forrest Fanning of Bellefonte.

The water in Pine creek at the point where the unfortunate man went in to bathe is very deceiving. From being very shallow there is a sudden drop into a deep hole and into this Fanning went unknowingly and lost his life.

The remains were taken to State College for interment.

INSTANTLY KILLED!

Sad Accident Which Ended the Earthly Career of Col. Geo. A. Bayard.

HE WAS STRUCK BY LOCAL FREIGHT

While Walking Along Track Near P. R. R., Freight Station—One of the Town's Oldest Citizens and a Veteran of the Civil War

HAPPENED AT 11:30 A. M. TUESDAY

Our town is once again called upon to mourn the sudden and unexpected death of one of its oldest and best known citizens. While walking along the railroad track Tuesday morning near the Pennsylvania freight station Col. George A. Bayard was struck by local freight and instantly killed.

The particulars surrounding this affair are very sad indeed. The accident happened about half past eleven o'clock. The Colonel had been up town attending to some business affairs and was in the best of health and spirits. About the hour mentioned above, he came down town, stopped in front of the Bush House where he talked and joked with Mr. John I. Potter, then proceeded down the track towards the freight station. The Colonel was walking on the track and as he is a little hard of hearing did not notice the approach of the local freight which was just coming into the yard, cabin foremost. When just about opposite the foot bridge over the mill race, the cabin struck him, knocked him down and dragged him a distance of fifteen feet. The entire train of several cars and engine passed over his body. His body was badly mangled and while no one can be found who saw it strike him, yet, the blood on the track shows where the accident happened very plainly. The cabin struck him first and the train crew did not know that they had run over a man until the brakeman on the pilot discovered the remains and signaled for the train to stop. The remains of the unfortunate man were picked up and carried into the freight station and Dr. Geo. F. Harris was sent for, the services of a physician however were unnecessary as death was undoubtedly instantaneous. A valuable gold watch and chain belonging to Col. Bayard were picked up along the railroad track where he was killed.

The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker H. P. Harris who took them to his establishment to prepare them for burial.

The train which struck Col. Bayard was local freight No 57, engine No. 1609 in charge of Engineer Theodore VanScoyoc, fireman Edward Black and conductor John Carlin, all of Tyrone.

This sudden and unexpected ending of the earthly career of Col. Bayard has cast a gloom over the whole community and the family have the deepest sympathy of all in this their hour of sad affliction. It is particularly sad in view of the circumstances surrounding it, but it only carries out the scriptural quotation "in the midst of life we are in death." Col. Bayard has been a resident of the town for many years and it does not seem possible that we shall never see his familiar figure traveling our streets again. Kind hearted in the extreme, he had a joke and a smile for everyone. Many hearts are touched with sadness and pity over his untimely death and if everyone to whom he had performed a kind and gentle act should come and place a blossom on his bier, he would sleep tonight beneath a wilderness of flowers.

George A. Bayard was born in Bayardtown, Allegheny county, and was 76 years of age. He was the son of Dr. A. W. Bayard and with his parents came to Bellefonte along about 1833 when he was about six years old. His father died in 1860 and was a surgeon in the war of 1812 and at the time of his death was a United States pensioner. Col. Bayard was also a relative of the late Senator Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware.

His grandfather, John Bayard led the 2nd Pennsylvania Cavalry out of Philadelphia in 1776. He was Colonel of this regiment.

When the war of the rebellion broke out George A. Bayard hastened to his country's defense. He first served in the three months service as a private in Co. H. Bellefonte Fencibles of 2nd Penna Volunteers. At the expiration of this enlistment he organized Co. H. of the 148th Pennsylvania Volunteers and was its first captain. For bravery in battle he arose to the rank of major and at the close of the war was breveted Lieut. Colonel. James A. Beaver was the Colonel of this regiment. Among the battles he participated in were Chancelorsville, Gettysburg, Cool Harbor, Ream's Station, Wilderness, Spotteylvania, North Anna, Petersburg, Bristoe Station, Po River, Deep Bottom and Boydtown Road.

After the war he engaged in the foundry business and later in putting down patent pavements. He was a staunch Republican and served several terms as Overseer of the Poor of Bellefonte. He was a candidate for County Treasurer but was defeated and was also a prominent candidate for the Bellefonte Post Office.

Col. Bayard's family ties were most pleasant indeed. He was married to Martha Johnson who survives him with the following children : Mrs. George Bowen, of Canton, Ohio; Walter W., and John of Los Angeles, California; James, Ursula, Caroline, Sadie, Roger T., of Bellefonte and George, of Arcadia, Pa.

Col. Bayard was affiliated with the Presbyterian church and was a regular attendant at the services.

With an enviable military record to his credit, and a genial disposition that drew to him hosts of friends, it is no wonder that the Presbyterian church was crowded to the doors, with comrades, friends and neighbors anxious to do him reverence, when the funeral services took place at 10:30 o'clock Thursday, conducted by Dr. William Laurie, assisted by Rev. John A. Wood, of the Methodist, Dr. H. C. Holloway, of the Lutheran and Rev. Thomas W. Perks of the United Brethren, churches.

Rev. Wood made an earnest prayer in opening which was followed by an address by Dr. Laurie, who spoke in a touching manner of the departed one and offered words of consolation to the bereaved family. Dr. Holloway then spoke a few words of an appropriate character. Interpersed with the services were several selections by a quartette composed of the following named gentlemen : C. C. Shuey, J. P. Smith, L. A. Schaeffer and Henry Brown.

The funeral was in charge of Gregg Post, No. 95 G. A. R., of which deceased was an active member. After the services in the church the casket containing the remains draped in the national colors and literally covered with beautiful floral offerings was placed in the hearse and the funeral cortege proceeded to the cemetery led by the Coleville band playing the dead march. A squad from Co. B, in charge of Sergeant Oliver Hazel acted as a guard of honor and following was the members of Gregg Post in full uniform. At the grave the services were conducted by the Post and were most solemn and appropriate. Three volleys were fired by the firing squad and taps were sounded by the bugler and just as the noon hour was sounding, the last sad rites and ceremonies were said over the remains of Col. George A. Bayard.

The honorary pall-bearers were as follows : Gen. James A. Beaver, Maj. Geo. A. Fairlamb, Capt. Thos. Myton, Geo. M Boal, D. W. Woodring, Charles Smith, Past Department Commander Austin Curtin, Dr. Theodore Christ, D. F. Fortney, W. H. Musser, Dr. J. M. Thompson, Capt. W H. Fry, John P. Harris, Wm. P. Humes, W. W. Montgomery, Frank P. Green, John Uzzle.

The active pall-bearers were General John I. Curtin, H. H. Montgomery, Herman K. Miller, Allen Smith, D. L. Sanders, Thomas Donachy.

The floral offerings were as follows : A wreath from the Union Veteran Legion ; G. A. R. badge from the Post; Crescent and Star from Annie, Eleanor, Robert and Betty Taylor ; pillow and many bouquets from other friends.

Ordained and Installed.

The Reformed church at Centre Hall was crowded Thursday evening to witness the ordination to the ministry and the installation as pastor of the Centre Hall charge of the Rev. Daniel Greer.

Rev. Greer was ordained by Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt, pastor of the Reformed church of Bellefonte, who also preached the installation sermon.

The work of installing the new pastor was performed by Rev. A. A. Black of Boalsburg. Rev. Wolf, of Walkersburg, Md., and Rev. Schuyler, of the Presbyterian church at Centre Hall, assisted in the exercises.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH!

George Latimer Potter Expires at his Home on East Linn Street.

ONLY ILL SINCE LAST FRIDAY

His Death Was Due to Apoplexy and Occurred at Quarter of One Wednesday—Belonged to One of Our Oldest Families.

A HIGHLY RESPECTED CITIZEN

Once again has the grim reaper death entered our midst and laid his icy finger on one of our highly respected and much beloved citizens. This time it is George L. Potter whose death we are compelled to chronicle, the sad event having occurred at quarter of one Wednesday at his home on East Linn street. Mr. Potter had only been ill since last Friday and very few of his friends had heard of it, so that the news of his death came as a great shock to the entire community. Mr. Potter was overcome by the heat while attending the funeral of Col. Bayard last Thursday but he recovered from this and it was not until Friday that he was compelled to take his bed. Dr. George F. Harris was the attending physician and he gives the cause of death as apoplexy.

Bellefonte has been sorely tried in the last six months by reason of the loss of a long line of its most distinguished citizens, who have been called to their final reward. The one who has just departed enjoyed to a high degree the esteem and regard of his fellow citizens and his death is generally mourned.

George Latimer Potter was the youngest son of the late William W. Potter and was born at Potters Mills, Centre county, April 6, 1847, making his age at time of death 56 years 3 months and 9 days. He was educated at the State College, Lawrenceville, N. J., and Washington and Jefferson College. He studied medicine for one year but gave that up owing to ill health. He was a clerk in the Pennsylvania Railroad office here until 1874 when he embarked in the insurance business in which he has been engaged ever since.

For several years he was a member of council from the North Ward and served a term as President of that body. On June 21, 1876 he was married to Elizabeth J. Sanderson, daughter of W. C. Sanderson, of Eagles Mills, Clinton county, who survives him with their two daughters, Marguerite and Sarah Irvin.

Mr. Potter was one of the organizer's of Co. B., and served as First Lieutenant from 1880 to 1885. He was also Treasurer of the Company for several years. Amos Mullen was Captain and Harry Hale, 2nd Lieutenant at the same time. Mr. Potter was also one of the organizers and a charter member of the Undine Fire Company.

Mr. Potter was an earnest christian gentleman and a member and elder in the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte.

DEATH OF EMANUEL PETERS.

He was One of College Township's Most Respected Citizens.

Mr. Emanuel B. Peters, a highly respected citizen of College township this county, died very suddenly Thursday morning after a short illness Mr. Peters had been working all day on Saturday in the hay field, and on Sunday complained of head ache which in a short time turned into what is known in medical science as spinal meningitis. He grew rapidly worse and despite all that medical skill could do he died on Thursday forenoon at about 11 o'clock. Mr. Peters was aged 54 years. He leaves to survive him a widow, Mrs. Sue Peters, and the following named children : James Peters, Rock Springs; Mrs. Annie Rishel, Oak Hall; Mrs. Minnie Wagner, Oak Hall; Mrs. Mary Stein, Altoona; Arthur, Elsie and Maggie at home. The funeral took place last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment at Boalsburg, Rev. Stoncypher had charge of the service

ELABORATE DINNER PARTY.

Given by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Holz in Honor of Daughter's Engagement.

One of the most elaborate dinner parties ever given in Bellefonte was that which took place Sunday evening at the residence of Herman Holz. It was given by Mr and Mrs. Holz in honor of the engagement of their only daughter, Edith to Dr. Louis Freidman, a celebrated young surgeon of New York city. It lasted from six o'clock until nine o'clock and consisted of eleven courses. All the luxuries and dainties of the season were served in the best style known to the caterers art. The caterer was Joseph Ceader.

There were about twenty guests present at this sumptuous dinner and during the evening a rare musical program was rendered much to the delight of the assembled guests. During the evening the engagement was formally announced by Mr. and Mrs. Holz and everyone tendered hearty congratulations to Dr. Freidman and his popular and beautiful bride-to-be.

On Monday evening a most elaborate lawn party was given by Mr. and. Mrs. Emil Joseph at their handsome home on High street. It was given in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Wallach of New York city, a sister of Mrs. Joseph, who is being entertained at the Joseph home. Dr. Freidman and Miss Holz were guests of honor. There were about thirty guests present. The lawn presented a beautiful appearance. It was decorated with lanterns etc. The rain however spoiled the out door enjoyment of the pleasure seekers and compelled them to adjourn to the spacious parlors where they spent the balance of the evening most pleasantly.

MENSCH—MUSSER.

A quiet but very pretty home wedding was celebrated at noon Monday at the residence of Editor Thomas H. Harter of the Gazette. The happy parties to this interesting event were Charles F. Mensch, a nephew of Mr. Harter, and Miss Bessie Mae Musser, a sister of Mrs. Harter.

The ceremony was performed promptly at 12 o'clock by Rev. William Laurie D. D. LL. D., pastor of the presbyterian church in the presence of only the immediate families of the contracting parties. The affair was very simple throughout there being no attendants. The bride who is a very sweet and attractive young lady was becomingly attired in a tailor made gray traveling suit while the groom wore the conventional black. After tendering congratulations the wedding party sat down to a delightful wedding repast. Later the bride and groom were driven to the Pennsylvania station where they took the 1:05 train for an extended wedding tour which embraces in its itinerary Salt Lake City, Omaha and Yellowstone Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Mensch on their return will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Harter. The groom is foreman and business manager of the Keystone Gazette and besides being a good business man enjoys the social qualities which go to make him popular wherever he is acquainted. The bride has been a resident of Bellefonte for the past ten years and is exceedingly popular, pretty and attractive she has a host of friends who wish her and her husband much happiness in their future wedded life.

American Naval Officers at the Pilgrim's Club Luncheon.

KIND WORDS FOR ROOSEVELT

Lord Beresford Declares the Britons Have the Greatest Esteem for the President of the United States:

RECEPTION BY AMBASSADOR CHOATE

LONDON, July 10.—At the Pilgrim's club luncheon to the visiting American officers at the Carlton club yesterday Vice Admiral Lord Charles Beresford read the following message from the Prince of Wales:

"I very much regret that an engagement will prevent me from being present. Please assure the American naval officers how sorry I am that I am unable to have the pleasure of meeting them on this occasion".

The luncheon was given in the main restaurant of the club. Two hundred persons were seated at small tables, which were decorated with American and British flags and roses. At the centre table Lord Beresford presided. On the right was seated Rear Admiral Cotton and on his left Captain Lampton, naval aide-de-camp to King Edward. Ambassador Choate, Senator Gorman, Senator Depew, General Lord Grenfell, the archdeacon of London; Sir Sinclair and Admiral Sir John Dalrymple Hay sat at the same table. The American officers present were the same as those who attended the state ball, and among the other guests were Captain Charles H. Stockton, the United States naval attache; Consul General Evens, Admiral Sir Henry Stephenson, Admiral Lord Charles Scott, Rear Admiral Sir James Russell, Str Berkeley Milne, commodore of the royal yachts, Lord George Hamilton; Arthur Lee, M. P.; Perry Belmont, George T. Wilson, of New York; Hamilton McCormick, of Chicago, and Louis Hay, of Michigan.

The scene was picturesque and novel. All the American and a number of British officers were in uniforms. The palm room was crowded with spectators.

In proposing the toast of "The King," Lord Beresford said it was particularly easy to do so, owing to recent events in which the king had been a messenger of peace and good will toward all nations. The interest of the whole world favored peace. He believed the day was coming when King Edward would be known as "Edward the Peacemaker" The toast was drunk with enthusiasm and then Lord Beresford toasted President Roosevelt.

After the luncheon Ambassador Choate held a reception at his house in honor of the American officials.

TRDAE YOURKIDNEYS FOR RHEUMATISM.

When you are suffering from rheumatism, the kidneys must be attended to at once so that they will eliminate the uric acid from the blood. Foley's Kidney Cure is the most effective remedy for this purpose. R. T. Hopkins, of Polar, Wis., says. "After unsuccessfully doctoring three years for rheumatism with the best doctors, I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and it cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this great medicine." C. M. Parrish.

Dams That Fail.

The story of the collapse of the dam at Oakford Park, Jeannette, Pa., with great loss of life, comes accompanied by the usual statement that the cause of the disaster was a "cloudburst." The impression seems to exist that clouds are constructed somewhat like water bags, which permit their contents to exude harmlessly through their porous envelopes, but if these envelopes are torn or so damaged as to permit them to empty their contents all at once, nothing in the way of an engineering structure can stand the dissolving and displacing action of the escaped water. This is a convenient hypothesis. It permits those responsible to take refuge behind an "act of God" and gives surviving friends and relatives such consolation as may be derived from the conviction that what has happened was not to be averted by human agency. The truth of the matter is that there is no such thing as a cloudburst.

A LETTER FROM PATTON.

An Interesting Description of This Thriving Little Town by Former Editor John C. Miller.

PATTON, Pa., July 6, 1903.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:

Agreeably to promise, I write, giving my impressions of this beautiful little town, situated on the summit of the Alleghenies 1700 feet above sea level, being almost the highest point in Pennsylvania.

Patton, as many of your readers know, is a comparatively new place and owes its inception and phenomenal growth to the vast deposits of coal which exist in untold quantity under the surface of this rugged and rock-ribbed section of Cambria county and is surrounded by some of the largest Bituminous coal operations in the State—it is the terminus of the Beech Creek branch of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.; the P. R. R. also passes through the town, giving excellent shipping facilities.

Those who have not been here can form no conception of the marvelous strides it has made in the ten years of its history. It has grown rapidly and at the same time its buildings and other improvements are of a substantial character. Although but a decade has passed since the town was originally laid out it has a population of 3,500, which does not include several contiguous hamlets just outside the borough limits which, if included, would swell the number to at least 5,000.

No wonder its citizens should be proud of the progress it has made and pardonably vain of the metropolitan air it has assumed for they have indeed made this "desert to blossom as the rose" and transformed the desolate mountain top into a beautiful habitation.

When the stranger arrives at Patton he alights at a new and commodious railroad station. In going through the town he will be impressed by the paved streets, excellent sidewalks and general thrifty appearance of every surrounding. Imposing business blocks with attractive show windows are on every side, and should he enter some of these stores would find immense stocks and polite and accommodating clerks. The town has the most modern electric light plant and electricity is almost universally used for lighting purposes. There is a fine sanitary system of sewerage, which was installed under the direction of Howard C. Yerger, formerly of Bellefonte (and by the way Howard is one of the solid men of Patton. The water supply is abundant; it is conveyed from some mountain springs and furnished at a fair price. There are several churches, of which the Catholic and Methodist are large and exceedingly handsome brick structures. The public school building is the pride of the town and is modern in every particular and none but the best instructors are employed. Several large and finely kept hotels accommodate the traveling public and they are constantly crowded. The First National Bank, with its capital of $100,000, keeps us easy financially. There are two telephone companies here, one being under the management of G. H. Bartley, of Bellefonte. A good, live newspaper, "The Courier," conducted by an able editor, keeps us informed as to passing events. A large brewery to cost over $100,000 is in course of construction, the entire product of which, we are informed, will be consumed in the mining of coal. One policeman maintains order in the community, and in this connection must confess I never saw so little disorder where there were so many people.

The town contains many beautiful and costly homes, with finely kept grounds, and among the citizens there is marked evidence of refinement.

I have endeavored to give some of the salient points about this remarkable town which might interest your subscribers.

If I have not already transgressed too much on your space would like to give an account of our Fourth of July celebration. It was the most interesting event of the kind I ever witnessed, thousands of people, representing nearly every nationality upon the face of the earth, vied with each other in doing honor to the glorious anniversary of our nation's birth. Buildings were gaily decorated in red, white and blue, flags hung across the streets, and there were several arches of evergreens interwoven with the national colors. Early in the morning the crowd commenced to pour in and by 11 o'clock every available space along the main thoroughfares was packed to see the parade, which consisted of an industrial display, patriotic marching clubs, rough riders and a variety of novel features which added considerable interest to the occasion. Three fine bands discoursed delightful music, and after the parade there were speeches in the public square by James Gleason, Esq., of Houtzdale, and Wm. H Denlinger, of this place. In the afternoon there was a base ball game at Athletic park. There were also large picnics at Highland park and the Firemen's park. In the evening there was a fine display of fireworks and a band concert. From this you will see that Patton is a rather progressive place.

JOHN C. MILLER.

He Stopped the Paper.

I've stopped my paper, yes I hev;
I didn't like to do it,
But the editor he got too smart
And I allow he'll rue it.

I am a man as pays his debts.
And I won't be insulted,
So when an editor gits smart,
I want to be consulted.

I took his paper 'leven years,
An' helped him all I could, sir,
An' when it comes to dunnin' me,
I didn't think he would, sir.

But that he did an' you kin bet
It made me hot as thunder,
Says I, I'll stop that sheet, I will,
If the cussed thing goes under!

Independence Day on Pine Creek.

In connection with the Fourth of July the story of how the Pine Creek farmers framed and signed a declaration of independence almost equal to and signed almost simultaneously with the Philadelphia document that renounced King George and the supremacy of the mother country, is decidedly interesting. In speaking of this remarkable occurrence Historian Meginness in his Otzinachson says:

"Early in the summer of 1776 the leading fair-play men, and settlers, along the river above and below Pine Creek, had received intelligence from Philadelphia that Congress had it in contemplation to declare the colonies independent, absolving them from all allegiance to Great Britain.

"This was good news to the little settlement up the West Branch, that was considered out of the jurisdiction of all civil law, and they set about making preparations to indorse the movement, and ratify it in a formal manner. Accordingly, on the 4th day of July, 1776, they assembled on the plains above Pine Creek in considerable numbers. A good supply of old rye was laid in on this momentous occasion. The subject of independence was proposed and freely discussed in several patriotic speeches, and, as their patriotism warmed up, it was finally decided to ratify the proposition under discussion in Congress by a formal declaration of independence. A set of resolutions were drawn up and passed, absolving themselves from all allegiance to Great Britain and henceforth declaring themselves free and independent.

"What was remarkable about this declaration was, that it took place about the same time that the declaration was signed in Philadelphia. It was indeed a remarkable coincident that two such important events should take place about the same time, hundreds of miles apart, without any communication. when the old bell proclaimed, in thunder tones to the citizens of Philadelphia that the colonies were declared independent, the shout of liberty went up from the banks of Pine Creek and resounded along the base of Bald Eagle mountain."

Encourage Self-Reliance.

Travelers tell us that wild plums and berries attain an average of sweetness and flavor in Alaska which is entirely unknown in our climate. A mountain oak, which stands alone and has withstood the storms and tempests of centuries, has become stout and mighty because it has had to wrestle with the wind and soil for its life, while the sapling in the forest which has always leaned upon its neighbors and has never been compelled to buffet with the elements, is a weakling. Its roots have never been forced to struggle deep down in the earth and clutch the rocks.

A youth born and bred in the midst of luxury, who has always leaned upon his parents, and who has never been obliged to fight his way up to his own loaf, who has been cuddled from his infancy, is like a sapling. A youth, who perhaps, has been an orphan since boyhood, and has had to struggle for an education and a place in the world, has developed a fiber as strong as that of a mighty oak. His roots have stuck deep; they have drawn nourishment and strength from the soil of adversity, and they sustain him in reverses of fortune amidst the stress of panic, and in great emergencies when weaklings bend and fall to the earth. The giant is made strong in wrestling with obstacles. Power is the resultant of the forces overcome. The savage believes that he receives the strength which he overmasters in his enemy, and this very belief adds to his physical powers. In a more real and salutary sense, we gain the strength we overcome; poverty and difficulty and hardships, when conquered, lend the force they formerly exercised in opposition to their conqueror.

Less expenditures	17,591.93
Leaving a margin of	$615.19

The estimates for teachers' wages are based upon the supposition that the teachers heretofore in the employ of the Board will be re-elected. There are some inconsistencies in the rating that should be remedied. Discussion with several members of the Board seemed to show a disposition not to agree with the views of the Committee and we therefore leave the inconsistencies remain. What is meant by this is, that some teachers are receiving more wages than they should, compared with others.

Your Committee believing that Mr. Wagner and Mr. Heiss should be retained in the positions they now occupy have increased the wages of both of these men.

Respectfully submitted.

Resume.

Everybody's Magazine is making a reputation for striking covers. The birch-bark cover of the June number is followed by a brilliant Fourth-of-July cover of the July number. The bunch of fire crackers looks natural enough to stir the warm blood of a patriot. The magazine itself is an exceptional number. Mr. Ridgway and Mr. Thayer are justifying the wisdom of their former employers, who paid them the highest salaries in their respective lines. They are surely making a splendid success of Everybody's Magazine. They are not imitating, they are not adapting, they are not copying; on the contrary, they are hewing out their own lines in so independent and vigorous a fashion that it is not beyond the point to prophesy for them a most promising future. You will find several features in Everybody's Magazine which cannot be had in any other magazine. "Significant Autobiographies" is one of the features. The July number gives the autobiography of a successful lawyer. The story is splendidly told, several dramatic incidents are narrated. Every lawyer will wish to read it, and everybody else, because everybody is interested in knowing how great successes are achieved. Another feature is "The Unemployed Rich," treating, in the July number, of a wedding, describing the feelings of a rich girl who marries for position, and the impression the wedding makes on her cousin who is not rich. The picture is not overdrawn, the writer is not cynical, the story is straightforward and wholesome. "Intimate Portraits" is another feature. The publishers promise to give portraits of people who are doing things, whether they are getting rich at it or not.

How Foreign Children Learn.

The foreign parents of East Side children realize that knowledge—especially knowledge of the language—is power. In the class-room, as on the street, the conflicting racial characteristics of the children of different nationalities, the influence of heredity, home-like, and environment, are all strikingly exemplified. The teachers soon come to realize that the surest way to spur the Jewish boys on to renewed efforts in their studies is to tell them constantly stories of the positions of power and wealth which await boys who have the education to fill them, stories of other boys who have grown up to fill such positions. The dreamy, indolent Italian children can best be reached by an appeal to their love of pure scholarship, their appreciation of the artistic, of rhythm and music, of the beauty of form and color. With nothing in their unlovely lives to awaken a spark of artistic creativeness, once given a glimpse of artistic procedure in the modeling and drawing classes, they display that marvelous talent for creation which is their heritage of race, and which has outlived the degradation of fifty generations. All the children of the East Side, especially the Hungarians, have a wonderful gift of language.—Everybody's Magazine.

Paul Herman Awarded the Bid.

Postmaster General Payne has awarded a contract for printing the money order blanks of the government to Paul Herman, of Rutherford, N. J. Mr. Herman was the lowest of fourteen bidders and the award of the contract, which involves the payment of between $300,000 and $350,000 during the next fiscal year, will effect a saving of nearly $45,000 in the four years' contract.

Herman's bid was opposed by the present contractor, the Wynkoop-Hallenbeck-Crawford company, of New York, and by the United Typothetæ of America.

Superintendent Metcalf, of the money order bureau, was dismissed some days ago on the charge of indiscretion in seeking the withdrawal of Herman as a bidder in favor of the present contractor.

The Price of a Wife.

With the degenerate civilized nations parents-in-law, far from getting any money for their daughters, even pay to the purchaser of the goods, and the purchaser can only, long after the bargain is struck, determine the market value of his acquisition. Not so among the primitive savage races, who have a more practical way of doing such things. The man who wants to marry knows exactly how much he has to pay for this luxury. In Uganda, for instance, the average cost of a wife is four bulls, a box of cartridges and six sewing needles. Sometimes you can buy one even cheaper. Thus, the explorer Wilton got a pretty wife for a pair of shoes. A Kaffir lady, according to the social status of her family, is worth from two to ten cows. A Navajo girl cannot be bought for less than twelve horses. In Tartary a woman is paid for by her weight in butter; the Samoyede father-in-law prefers reindeer in payment; the Kisans of India content themselves with some rice and a rupee. A rich Mishmi (of Northeastern Assam) has to pay twenty oxen for a wife, but a poor fellow may get one for a mere hog. In Timorlant (Malay Archipelago) payment must be made in elephant tusks. In Unyoro (British East Africa) they can marry on the instalment plan, but the wife is not delivered to the purchaser before the last instalment has been paid. Among many tribes in Africa, Asia and America the son-in-law has to serve his father-in-law, even as Jacob served Laban. The amount due for the wife is gradually deducted from his wages until the full price has been paid in work.

Mischter Drucker! — Wie fuht Eich des nei pennsylvanisch Leibel-Gesetz, was unser Legislehtscher gepäßt un d'r Governier geseint hot? Bischuhr, jetzt geht es den Zeitingdrucker iwel, enihau den kleene. Den große macht es net so viel aus; selle kenne en Leibel-Suht stände un en bar Advokate anstelle. Des gebt dann grad en gesunne Fresse for beede—die Advokate un die Drucker. Die Advokate verdiene ebbes un die Drucker hen en bar Woche lang alle Dag en bar Spalte vun ihren große Leibel-Suht in ihrer Zeiting. Sell nemmt gut bei die Leit un die Zeitinge verkahfe wie heeße Buchweezekuche. Es is en gränd Adverteisment. So sehne mer dann wieder die alt Stohrie: die kleene Diebe hängt mer un die große loßt mer lahfe.

Wie ich versteh, is des nei Lah hahbtsächlich gepäßt worre, weil en dheel Zeitinge es in d'r letschte Kampehn gar so arg gemacht hen un allerhand Pitters vun die Candidate un Iwens vum Governier gedruckt hen. Awer sell war allfort so. En öffentlicher Candidat is en öffentlich Property—sell belangt zu d'r Letschenbisnis. Mer findt nie net aus, wie gut en Mann is, bis er sterbt; un wann ebber wisse will, wie schlecht as er is, dann braucht er juscht rauskomme for en Offis. Ich weeß net, eb sell juscht so recht is, awer es is nau ewe emol so, un ich denk net, daß die Lah sell stappe kann ime freie Land. Awer supposen, es stappt en Drucker, in seiner Zeiting ebbes gegich en Candidat zu sage, was net exättly wohr is, so werd en Drucker sich doch zu helfe wisse, denn wo en Wille is, hot's eenige Zeit ah en Weg gewe. Wann mer net meh schelte derf, so is es noch net verbotte, zu lowe un do drei leit die Scheeheet vun unsere freie Institutschens. Mer kann dann en Mann so gottserbärmiglich lowe, daß en Kind sehne kann, daß es geloge is, awer er kann nix welle. Sell is dann noch ärger, as wann mer ihn en bissel schelt. Ich for mei Dheel wot enihau liewer en bissel gescholte sei, as wann en Zeiting sage dät, ich wär en Engel ohne Fliegel.

D'r Dscharlie Morningglory do aus unserm Distrikt, was ah in d'r Sembly war, hot net for sell Leibel-Lah gestimmt un er bildt sich nau arg viel ein druff un glahbt, sell dät ihm nächst Johr viel helfe, daß die Leit ihn wieder in die Sembly lekte. Un er segt alleweil, daß sell Leibel-Lah nix nutz is un daß es besser geweßt wär, wann se en Bill gepäßt hätte, was den Lovers en Maultorb umhängt, daß se die Witnesse in d'r Curt net meh so bejubse kenne. Recht hot er, wann er's ah selwert net glahbt. Er weeß awer, daß mer mit Sped Mäus fangt, un es sot mich gar net Wunner nemme, wann er sich uf seller Weg wieder in die Sembly neischafft, bekohs die Lovers sen net so arg gegliche. D'r Dscharlie hot die Ahge weit offe.

Wie sell Leibel-Lah schaffe werd mit mir, muß ich erscht ausfinne un mich ewe en bissel in Acht nemme, wann ich mei Briefe schreib. Wann ich dann ebbes zu berichte hab iwer die Sällie oder die Betzie, dann muß ich ewe erscht hiegehe un sage: „So un so hab ich geheert; is es wohr un derf ich's reporte?" Ich schreib dann des ganz Ding uff, so en bissel in d'r Horrie, daß es nit arg plehn is, les es d'r Sällie oder d'r Betzie vor un frog: „Is es recht deneweg?" Segt se „Jo," dann loß ich se ihr Name drunner schreiwe. Un wann se ungefähr hinneher kummt un segt, daß es net recht war in d'r Zeiting, dann sag ich juscht: „Do is des ganz Stick mit Deim Name drunner," un ich kann se noch auslache wann ich will un se kann mir nix welle. Des is een Weg, wie mer um die nei Lah kumme kann, un ich denk, es gebt noch annere. Es werd nix so heeß gegesse, wie's gekocht werd, segt mer als. Enihau, mer welle es nau emol abwarte. En jedes klee Thierche hot en Waffe kriegt, daß es sich wehre kann; worum sot d'r Mensch net ah so gescheid sei? En Lah is net allemol en Lah, un es is en schlechte Ruhl, was net uf zwee Wege schafft. Kummt die Zeit, kummt ah Rath. Ihr mißt mich awer net verrothe, Mischter Druder.

NEW GAME OF KNOCKERINA.

Novel Gambling Diversion Started In Washington.

The men who exist in a certain boarding house in Washington have developed a new gambling game, the Washington Post says. They call it "knockerina." It is best played when all the boarders, men and women, are sitting out on the front porch and on the lawn during the hours of daylight that remain after dinner, although it can be played at any time when women not living in that particular boarding house are around or passing in review in front of the house.

The method of "knockerina" is as follows:

There is a standing idea among all of the male boarders that no woman will listen to men's praise of another woman for her good looks or, for that matter, for any other quality without getting in some sort of a dab at the expense of the praised woman.

So, for example, when all of the boarders are sitting out in front of the house one of the "knockerina" playing men, seeing a woman coming down the street, will exclaim:

"Pretty girl, that, isn't she?"

He says this so that all of the women can hear the remark.

If by any possible chance any of the women agree with him that the girl coming down the street really is pretty then the man making the remark is out a quarter, the other "knockerina" players matching among themselves to see which of them shall receive the quarter.

If, however—and this is what almost invariably happens—one of the women boarders make a different reply, a knock, in fact, as, for example, "Oh, yes; she's fairly good looking, but she has such an ugly walk," or "Um—ye-es, not so bad looking, but her eyes are too close together," or "Decent enough appearing, but she's so mean to her mother," or "She pads dreadfully," or "She's snippy and stuck up," or "She cries for hours every day because she knows her nose is crooked," or something like that. In this case the young man who has remarked that the girl coming down the street was pretty wins a quarter from the other "knockerina" players, and they match among themselves to see which of them shall give the 25 cents to the winner.

It's a great game, all right, but the fellows who are as occasion arises forced to take the short end of it by standing to lose a quarter on the proposition that none of the women will have a knock for the woman praised are losing out pretty fast so far.

NEW ELECTRIC TIMER.

Automatic Stop Watch For Timing Track Runners.

A new electrically regulating stop watch for use in timing track runners has been invented by J. T. Roberts, Yale college, New Haven, Conn., 1905, says the Jewelers' Circular and Review. In many ways it is similar to some of the automatic arrangements which have from time to time been tried for this purpose. The invention of Mr. Roberts is considered by Michael Murphy, the trainer, to be the best of the kind he has seen.

The watch is connected with an electric current, the power for which is obtained from dry batteries, and it works automatically. At the starting point is an arrangement connected with the wires running to the watch, and when the runner makes a start the current is closed and the watch starts. In the same manner there is a connection between the tape and the watch, which, upon being struck by the runner, opens the current and stops the watch.

LETTER TUBES IN PARIS.

Rapid System of Electric Postal Service to Be Tried In France.

A scheme is being promoted in Paris for constructing a system of subterranean pneumatic conduits for the rapid transportation of mail matter and parcel freight and express, says the Engineering News. The proposition has been brought to the notice of the government, and official trials will be made of models. The system employs electricity as its motive power, and its inventors represent that they can transport cars weighing a ton over any given distance at a speed of 100 miles an hour. The system is styled the "electric postal service."

A metal duct is to be constructed of a width of not exceeding thirty inches, which will be wide enough for a double track to accommodate trains going in opposite directions. The cars would be simply sheet iron cases supported on two or four axles and carrying the electric motor. The central compartment of each "car," measuring about twenty cubic feet, would be reserved for freight. The total length of each vehicle would be about twenty-two feet, but it would not exceed twenty inches in height. To counteract the resistance of the air—naturally of great force in view of the excessive speed attained by the vehicle—the front and rear of each car would be equipped with wind cutters in parabolic form.

His work for the grange in that state has been most valuable, and he has been honored with several important offices in his state grange. He was elected assistant steward of the state grange in 1882, secretary in 1883, lecturer in 1884, overseer in 1888, elected master of the state grange in January, 1897; re-elected in February, 1899, and January, 1901. As a member of the state grange legislative committee he prepared the bill creating the state board of agriculture, was appointed a member of the board April 1, 1891, and has been continuously reappointed.

He was elected professor of agriculture at the West Virginia university in July, 1891, which position he filled for two years. In June, 1896, he was unanimously elected president of Barboursville college, which he resigned in June, 1897, to accept his present position. Governor Atkinson appointed him a member of the board of regents of West Virginia university in May, 1897, for a term of six years, and in June following he was elected dean of the college and professor of agriculture, which position he now holds.

A SUGGESTIVE PLAN.

To Promote Interest In Grange Work and Increase Membership.

Sometimes it seems to be necessary to introduce new methods for awakening a flagging interest in grange attendance and grange work. While contests between members or committees may not always be commendable, yet so good an authority on grange work as Mrs. Sarah G. Baird, master of Minnesota state grange, has recommended the following, which was tried with good results in a Minnesota grange:

Two ladies chose sides as in a spelling match. The contest lasted three months, with two meetings each month. The side beaten furnished a good supper. The secretary acted as umpire and remarked that care must be taken not to do anything which would cause the members to get too much credit or be offended. The sides alternated in furnishing a programme, each having a chance to score a maximum of 160 points at one meeting. In addition to this, the attendance of each person at a meeting counted 10. The side which had the most at roll call got 30. The roll was called at 8:30 p. m. An application counted 60. An essay counted 25; a crop report by a farmer counted 20. He could secure four men to speak on it with a credit of 5 points each. In a similar manner a lady could write an essay and secure four ladies to discuss it. Select reading counted 10, a recitation 15, a dialogue 20, a wedding 100. This contest brought sixty-five applications for membership. The plan can be varied to suit conditions.

The safest principle through life, instead of reforming others, is to set about perfecting yourself.—Haydon.

KEENE ON BIG AUTO RACE.

Glad Germany Won and Says Result Insures Another Contest.

The New York Herald's European edition publishes the following from its correspondent at Ballyshannon, Ireland:

Foxhall Keene, one of the competitors in the recent race in Ireland for the International Automobile cup, is enthusiastic in his praise of the race and the manner in which it was conducted. "It is the best kept race that has ever taken place anywhere," he said to me at the finish. "There was nothing on the road to interfere with us, not even a chicken. I think it is a good thing for the sport of automobiling that Germany won, though naturally I was sorry it was not I who won. With the cup going to Germany, it is certain there will be a contest there next year. Had France won the contest would have been improbable. If England won, it might have been possible, but not certain. The race here was good enough for anybody to ride in.

"I noticed when traveling in the Paris-Berlin race that the people flocked on the roads the same as in France, but I believe if Germany holds the race the kaiser might use soldiers to guard the route and thus afford protection to the automobilists and the spectators.

"With regard to the race in Ireland, there was no hitch. I enjoyed the contest and wouldn't have stopped but for a dangerous axle which provided a risk too great to take."

British King Proposes to Revive the Ancient Glories of the Thames.

The appearance of King Edward on the Thames during last Whitsuntide is taken as an earnest of his intention of spending much of his time on the water in the summer during his residence at Windsor, says a London cable dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. The royal barges have been renovated and decorated, and a new launch has been built. A light craft has also been built for the Prince of Wales' little son. The king, moreover, has allowed it to go forth in other ways that he proposes to revive many of the ancient glories of the Thames.

The queen is also having preparations made for going afloat in royal state. A series of misfortunes attended the state pageants on the Thames arranged in recent years. The king's barge, Virginia Water, has not been used for more than thirty years. Last year orders were given that it should be decorated and taken to Windsor for the coronation, but when it had been beautified and the royal waterman had practiced the stroke the king's illness upset the plans, and it was taken back to the boathouse.

FREAKS OF KANSAS RIVERS.

Channels of Several Streams Have Been Changed by the Flood.

The recent Kansas flood in the Kaw river changed the channel of the stream very much and formed some new lakes, says a Topeka dispatch to the Kansas City Times. Near St. Mary's the river cut across a bend some seven miles around, the new channel being less than a mile and a half in length. The old channel is now a lake. Near Manhattan the river was shortened by two cuts. One leaves the old river bed a lake of several miles in length and the other is not much smaller. Both at Lawrence and Topeka new channels were formed, but the waters are to be diverted from these into the old courses.

There is hardly a ten mile stretch along the Kaw river where cutting has not been done by the swift currents—lopping off a short bend here and opening a new channel there. It is impossible to estimate what the total of this shortening will amount to, but it is no small number of miles. Another result of the flood was the gouging out of innumerable holes in the level bottoms far from the channel proper, some of them very deep.

Four Ways to Health.

Hygienic living demands imperatively the absolute purity of the four following necessities: Air, water, food and thoughts. Granted these, you have the constituents out of which nature formulates such a perfect creature that the inward purity seems to lend a radiance to the personality. It is not simply a few breaths of fresh air a half dozen times a day that a woman needs, but a continuous supply, and just as the greater part of women are half starved for fresh air, so they are also stinted, oftener from ignorance than necessity, in the quantity of water the body requires to keep it clean and healthy. Pleasure of a pure, elevating nature has come to be recognized as having a distinctly therapeutic office and hence to be one of those factors which merit the same consideration and attention as other necessaries in a well ordered life.

New Alpine Gardens.

A society of naturalists at Lucerne has decided to start on the Rigi and Pilatus Alpine gardens in which visitors may be able to see conveniently about 600 species of plants peculiar to the Swiss mountains.

People Who Can't Sleep

Many people go to bed—not to sleep, but to think—to tumble and toss—to get up, walk about until tired Nature gives way and a few fitful hours of sleep are obtained just before dawn—a sleep that does not rest—a sleep from which one wakes weary and tired, wholly unfitted to take up the daily routine of household, shop or office duties. That this condition goes on uncared for is almost criminal, when the well-known, time-tired and tested powers of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to give restful natural sleep have been so fully proven in such cases.

Joseph E. Cox of 1346 Pennsylvania Ave., Tyrone, Pa., says: "Last fall I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and both myself and wife used them with splendid results. It was no time before I rested finely at night and found complete relief from the destressing headaches that had so persistently troubled me before. My wife found them equally as fine in similar affections. As a consequence I have no hesitation in saying they are all they are represented to be." 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. AN UNPARALLELED OFFER!

In order to introduce the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN into the homes of Centre county citizens where it is not already a welcome visitor, the publisher has determined to make the following offer:

We will send the REPUBLICAN on trial to any address in Centre county from now until December 1, 1903, for 25 cents. As anyone can readily see, this does not more than cover the cost of the white paper, and our only hope of reward is that you will become regular readers of the REPUBLICAN in the future.

Each week a sheet of music is given away free worth at least ten cents.

We publish more local news than any other paper in Centre county and have a correspondent in almost every town.

There is a column devoted to the Grange and a Pennsylvania German letter each week, and also a short story.

Sent on trial five (5) months for 25 cents, or one year $1.00; 52 dividends on the dollar invested.

Send us your name.

THE PRISONER'S STORY.

The Experience of Col. George A. Bayard While Confined in Rebel Prison as Told by Himself.

I was captured on the 22nd day of June 1864 near Petersburg, Va., during an effort to extend the lines of our corps to the left, as is told elsewhere in the general history of the regiment. We lay in an open field during the night and, on the morning of the 23rd, marched to Petersburg in charge of the provost guard. From there, with other prisoners, I was taken in a box car to Libby Prison and was examined by the famous Dick Turner, a former citizen of New York, who was in command. He told me, if I had any money, I should give it to him and at the end of my destination he would send me two of their dollars for one of ours. I fortunately didn't have any, except ten cents, and it was probably well that I didn't, as the money he got from other officers was never returned. The ten cents came in well afterwards for a little purchase in Augusta.

I was kept in Libby about seven days. The building was a rude brick structure and was crowded. On the second floor there were about two hundred prisoners. While there, I received a note from Col. Fairlamb, who had been badly wounded and was lying in a room below me on the first floor. I have unfortunately mislaid the note but in it he complained of the fare which he was receiving. I intended writing him, congratulating him upon being so well provided, because he was getting much better than I. The rations served to the prisoners were very slim and ill-served. Thin bean soup was brought up in old fish tubs, made by cutting fish barrels in two. In order to get my quota of soup, I was compelled to break my canteen in two and use the parts as dishes, so as to have something to hold my quota of the fluid. I never was able to see Col Fairlamb, being taken out before I had the opportunity.

From Libby Prison I was taken to Lynchburg and, while there, was given five hard-tacks as large as a common bread plate and a small piece of bacon which was to last me five days. It was at that place that our cavalry got in and tore up the railroad and burned the depots for a distance of about seventy-five miles, so when we were taken from Lynchburg to Danville we were compelled to walk the entire distance. The parts of my canteen, previously referred to, served me well here, for on the march I would take my hard tack and cut up some green apples and make a stew out of them, using the one side of my canteen for a stewpan. It took us over five days to make the trip. While on the march, the soles of my shoes came off and I was compelled to tie them on with strings. We arrived at Danville on the Fourth day of July. Grant had boasted of his taking Richmond by that day. As we were marching through the streets, the Confederates wanted to know whether Grant had taken Richmond yet. By reason of the bad condition of my shoes, I dropped to the rear and, while marching through the town, stopped to get a drink of water from an old colored woman who stood on the sidewalk. While there, a citizen of the town came up to me and, with much profanity and abuse, wanted to know why I was standing there and why I didn't keep up with my comrades. I learned afterwards that he was from Bedford County, in Pennsylvania, and the incident simply illustrates what is often said—that the most rabid of the southern people were those who came from the north.

At Danville they put us on box cars—about forty in a car, closed the doors and shipped us to Macon, Georgia. We were five days and five nights on the road, with hardly anything to eat. We arrived at our destination and, before we were taken to the stockade, we were searched and, if we had anything of any account, it was taken from us. When the gates were opened, we saw a sight that was wonderful. Inside those walls were over seventeen hundred officers. When we entered, they yelled as loud as they could "Fresh fish!" In my ignorance I thought it was very warm to have fresh fish, not knowing that they were yelling at us. I was in the stockade only a few minutes when I met Capt. Breon who had been taken prisoner a few days before me. He asked me to go and take dinner with him, as he and four of his other comrades had formed a mess. I accepted the invitation. Our bill of fare was corn meal and some kind of berries mixed together. It took the shape of a roly poly pudding of very primitive form, the meal and berries being boiled together in a leg of Capt. Breon's drawers sewed at one end and tied at the other. We certainly did enjoy that meal, as we were very hungry. The stockade that we were in was called Camp Oglethorp and we remained there about six weeks

The Confederates expected some of Sherman's advance guard who were on that march to the sea at that time. They put us in squads of six hundred and the squad I was in was sent to Savannah, Ga. We were encamped in a stockade at the Marine Hospital grounds and were there nearly six weeks. We were furnished tents here but were compelled to raise them from the ground, so that they could see under the floors that there was no tunneling for escape. The gronnds were lighted by huge bonfires upon elevated platforms. We were treated better here than at most of the camps which we occupied. I recall distinctly a service held by an old Scotch Chaplain who preached for us one night before he was exchanged. During the service, he prayed for President Lincoln with great earnestness, notwithstanding the fact that he was heard by the sentinels who surrounded the stockade.

We were then moved to Charleston, South Carolina, and placed in a jail yard where we were under constant fire from our guns at James' Island. We were there from four to five weeks. Each morning about three o'clock our people began shelling the city. The jail being centrally located, and of stone, was constantly being hit by our shells. The prisoners being afraid of the balls and stone, would go up and lie near the jail walls, so as to be protected. The jail yard was so filthy dirty that many of the officers took the yellow fever and died. I had the itch and body lice and was nearly starved to death.

We were removed later to higher grounds back of Columbia, South Carolina, where all the prisoners-1700-were mobilized again. They called this "Camp Sorghum", where we were kept for four weeks. While there, a great big hog came into camp and the prisoners, not having had any meat for months, surrounded the hog and killed him. They skinned him and, when they cooked him, you could smell the odor all over the camp. At another time two bloodhounds came into the camp and they were likewise captured and killed but were thrown into a sink hole. There was hardly a night passed but some of the prisoners did not try to escape and, as soon as one sentinel fired, all the sentinels began firing and many officers, while sitting around the camp fire thinking of loved ones at home were killed by these shots. To protect ourselves, we dug ditches large enough to hold five men each and in that way we would pass the night safely.

We were removed from that camp to a stockade at Columbia, South Carolina, which was some time during December, when it was beginning to get very cold. The place in which we slept was nothing but a rude shed, the upper story being used for a hospital. There was great suffering here from the cold and hunger. Each man would receive a pint of corn meal a day and three small sticks of wood for five men to last twenty-four hours to burn to keep them warm. On Christmas day we hadn't anything at all to eat but between Christmas and New Year my mess received some Confederate money. The mess, all told, had raised twenty-seven hundred dollars in Confederate money. I do not know exactly how all of it was obtained. I secured 600 dollars in this way. Ger. (then Col.) Fraser, of the 140th Regiment, was in prison at the same time. He had been a professor in Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Pa., an institution which was well known in the South and from which many of the southern people had graduated. He introduced me to a gentleman who was doing an exchange business with the prisoners, as one of his students. I drew a draft upon the First National Bank of Bellefonte for $1000.00, payable in gold, and for this received six hundred dollars in Confederate money. To follow the draft to its destination—when I was exchanged and got my pay, I was carrying home $300. in currency, with which to pay the draft. Boarding the train at Harrisburg one morning, I met Abram Sussman, Frank Wilson and other friends from Bellefonte who told me that the draft had been presented but that my friends, fearing that it was either a forgery or that I had been coerced into signing it, declined to pay it and it had been returned. Not knowing how to send the money for the payment of the draft, I fear that the gentleman who did the exchange business was short at least to the extent of the draft. A part of my money was expended, as hereinafter described. I regret to say that a goodly portion of what was received by other members of the mess was lost in fighting the tiger at a faro bank which was run by some thrifty confederate within the prison limits.

New Year day was my cook day and then the mess told me to get up a good dinner. I went to the Confederate sutler, who had his place within the bounds of the prison, and bought two round steaks, one pound of butter, nine loaves of bread and half a peck of sweet potatoes. After I had the dinner ready and the table set, I told Capt. Breon there was just one thing needed and that was mustard. He said he would soon get that. He went to the hospital, almost doubled up, and told the Doctor he wanted some mustard for the pain in his back. He secured it, but instead of a plaster for his back we used it to help plaster the interior of our stomachs. That was the only square meal we had, while we were in the Confederate prisons and that cost us $100.00 in Confederate money.

I had $100 left of the money I had borrowed. I had previously made myself a pair of slippers out of my old blouse, as my shoes had been worn out months before. The sutler, previously referred to, had English shoes for sale but he asked $100. a pair for them. I visited his place of business a dozen times a day, considering whether I'd buy shoes or something to eat. One day, when unusually hungry, I saw a part of a hog's head known in Pennsylvania as the "jowl", and asked him what he wanted for it. He said "I'll take $36.00 for it." I did without the shoes and took the jowl.

We were kept in that stockade until 3 o'clock on the 14th day of February, when we were quickly taken out of one end of the town as Sherman's advance guard was marching in at the other. We were put in a box car and some of Sherman's advance guards were captured and put in with us and were all sent to Charlotte, N. C. We were kept there but a few days, for Sherman was following close behind. We were then taken to Raleigh, N. C., where we remained over night and the following day were reviewed by Gov. Zeb. Vance, of that state. One of the officers told us, after it got dark, that we could go up town. Capt, Evans and Lieut. Stover, both of the 184th Pa. Vols., and myself took advantage of this opportunity and went to town. While there, we met a confederate guard and asked him where we could get some apple jack. He told us he had some in his canteen and charged us $15.00 in Confederate money for three drinks. We asked him where we could buy a quart and he said around the corner at a grocery store. We purchased a quart of the fluid and paid the grocer $60.00 in Confederate money for it. We saw a part of the town but by the time we got back to camp we couldn't see anything else.

We left Raleigh and went to Goldsboro and there they kept as many as they could of us at the Court House. We were there only a night and the next day we signed a parole of honor not to take up arm until we would be exchanged as prisoners of war. That afternoon we boarded the train and went within nine miles of Wilmington, N. C. The next morning, when the train stopped, we were marched between the ranks of a regiment of our cavalry. We were given something to eat and then taken to Wilmington. This was on the 1st day of March 1865. On the 2nd of March I embarked on a vessel for Annapolis and reached that city about the 5th. I bought myself a hat, a suit of clothes and a pair of shoes and gave the storekeeper my name and regiment, as I had not received any money, but promised to pay him when I received my pay from the government before I left the city, which I did. The clothes I was captured in I threw away that day. I received a leave of absence for thirty days from the 15th of March until the 15th of April; also received two months' pay and came home.

At the end of my leave, I went back to Annapolis and from there we were ordered to Washington to participate in the funeral of our martyred President, Abraham Lincoln. I joined my regiment beyond Alexandria, Va., where I was mustered as Major, having been promoted during my absence in prison. I participated in the Grand Review at Washington and from there went to Harrisburg where I was mustered out the 1st day of June 1865.

FAMOUS WOMAN'S WILL.

Bellefonte Relatives Remembered by Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnston.

The will of Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnston, neice of President James Buchanan, who died in New England July 4th was filed for probate in the office of the Register of wills for the District of Columbia at Washington.

Bellefonte relatives are remembered in a substantial manner. To John Lane, of Bellefonte, James Lane, of Philadelphia, and Elliot, of Camden she leaves $60000 in trust. To Elliot Lane son of John Lane of this place $5.000 is left for his education.

Mrs. Robert Fay, formerly Patti Lane of this place, who was a great favorite of Mrs. Johnston, receives a large sum of money and jewelry, silver ware and other family heirlooms.

The will among other bequests, leaves $100, 000 in trust as the James Buchanan monument fund for the erection of a suitable monument to the memory of President Buchanan at his birthplace near Mercersburg, Pa. The money bequeathed by Mrs. Johnston is to be spent partly in the purchase of the old Buchanan homestead site, the monument to the ex-President to be erected on a boulder located there. The balance of the site is to be made a park.

GENEROUS NEIGHBORS.

Turned in With Horses and Machinery and Harvested Farmer's Crop.

On the afternoon of the 4th of July the large barn, horses and machinery, on the farm of the late General Hastings, near town, was totally destroyed by fire as most of our readers know. It was quite a loss to the farmer, Elmer Swartz, coming as it did in the midst of the busiest time for farmers. The hay and grain were in the fields ready for the reapers. To make matters worse Mr. Swartz was severely burned in attempting to rescue his horses from the fire. All his horses were lost and his harvesting machinery also.

In this extremity his neighbors, with generous hearts, left their own work, and turned in with horses and machinery, harvested and stored away his crops ready for the market.

Among the farmers who thus nobly assisted Mr. Swartz were George Musser, Jerry Donovan, Nathan Dale, D. M. Kline, Luther Dale and William Ross.

Mr. Swartz is reported to be recovering slowly.

Curtin Memorial Commission Meet.

Thursday of last week there was a meeting of the Andrew G. Curtin Memorial commission in Harrisburg to further the project of erecting a suitable memorial to the old war governor.

This memorial was provided for by the legislature of 1901, which appropriated ten thousand dollars for a monument to be erected at Bellefonte, the home of the statesman, and to which the people of this town are to add five thousand dollars.

The commission, consisting of Governor Pennypacker, General James A. Beaver, of Bellefonte, and Senator A. E. Patton, of Curwensville, continued the organization by electing Governor Pennypacker president and Senator Patton secretary and treasurer. The work of the past year was then reviewed, note made of the progress of the artist at work on the memorial and instructions given as to the future. Artist Barnard is at work on a soldiers' and sailors' design, which was originally determined as the most fitting for the executive of war times who led his state in equipping for the field a greater army than any other state sent forth for the defense of the Union.

It can not yet be stated when the memorial will be ready for unveiling, when it is ready it will be something which will be an honor to the town which gave the state a man of such great public usefulness.

THAT PETITION.

The Protest of Hebrews Against the Kisheneff Massacre

CAUSED A LONG CONFERENCE

Between President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hay at Sagamore Hill Tuesday Night.

MANCHURIAN QUESTION INVOLVED

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 9.—President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay concluded their conference at a late hour Tuesday night. The secretary left Sagamore Hill shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday morning for Washington.

It is understood the exact method of procedure, relative to the B'Nai B'Rith petition to the Russian government, has not been determined. The petition itself has not been completed and it can be said that the president deeply regrets the day of the placing of the document in his hands. Next week, probably Tuesday, the president expects to have a conference at Sagamore Hill with three of the Jewish citizens, who have promoted the idea of forwarding a petition to the Russian government. On that day Simon Wolf, of Washington, and Oscar Strauss and Leon M. Levy, of New York, will take luncheon with the president. It is expected that the petition, which has been revised carefully by its author, will be handed to the president at that time. In any event the subject, in all its phases, will be considered thoroughly.

It is understood the Jewish citizens, who have been insistent in their advocacy of the sending of the petition desire that matters relating to it should be considered entirely apart from the Manchurian question. This, it is pointed out by state department officials is scarcely possible, as the two matters are unseparably connected in the manifold decisions of the United States diplomatic relations with Russia.

Whether the petition, when completed, will be sent immediately to the Russian government or whether the Russian foreign officials will be asked first whether it will receive such a presentation, has not been determined definitely. The result would be the same, in effect, whether the one method were adopted or the other, as naturally, Russia would be cognizant of the nature of the petition before she declined or agreed to receive it.

FOR PURE FOOD.

HARRISBURG, July 9.—The vigorous crusade made by Dr. Warren, state dairy and food commissioner, against the illegal traffic in oleomargarine during his three months' service as chief of the dairy and food division of the department of agriculture, has caused numerous dealers to take out the proper state licenses in order that they could handle the uncolored oleomargarine without fear of arrest and prosecution.

During the months of May and June, 1902, the total receipts at the state treasury on account of oleo license fees, was $438.35, as compared with $2,412,50, for the same period in 1903, which clearly indicates a renewed activity in the direction stated.

During the past three months Mr. Warren ordered prosecution against about 200 dealers scattered throughout the various counties of the commonwealth for alleged violations of the several acts of assembly relating to adulterated dairy and food products.

Briefly summarized, prosecutions were commenced in the cases of dealers who handled adulterated food commodities and unlicensed oleomargarine, as follows:

Oleomargarine, fifty cases; compound lard, forty-five; renovated butter, eighteen; sausage, nine, milk, seventeen; maple syrup, six; vanilla extracts, six; vinegar, five; applebutter, two, pepper, two; cheese, two.

Adulterated, preserved, or fraudulent articles, such as pork, cocoa, preserves, jellies, jams, cream, cherry phosphate and other articles also came under the ban and were prolific of trouble and expense to dealers who had not taken proper precautions to learn the requirements of the pure food laws of Pennsylvania.

"Olemargarine" the commissioner stated to a newspaper representative, "has its rights under the laws of Pennsylvania. It has a right to be composed of lard, beef-fat and cotton-seed oil, but it must not be colored artificially in order to make it resemble in appearance the pure delicious product of the Jersey cow. The man who sold it over the counter, at retail or wholesale, or serves it on the table at the hotel, restaurant or boarding house, can do so legally and without fear of prosecution, if he secures the requisite license and fully complies with the act regulating the manufacture and sale of this substitue for butter in Pennsylvania.

Hon. Harry K. Daugherty, of Grove City, Mercer county, who had been appointed as an attorney of the dairy and food division, and who was declared ineligible for the position because of the fact that his term as a member of the legislature had not yet expired, refunded the amount of $159 00 to commissioner Warren, who had re-imbursed the commonwealth this amount out of his private funds as soon as he learned that the appointment was contrary to the provisions of the constitution of Pennsylvania. This concludes the matter and neither the commonwealth nor Commissioner Warren suffered any financial loss.

A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF.

Company B Stands at the Top of the National Guard.

The published report of the recent Spring Inspection of the National Guard of Pennsylvania is being sent out over the State to the military attaches of the State government, giving the rating attained by each Company in the Guard.

The report is certainly very flattering to Company B and its officers, Captain Taylor and Lieutenants Garbrick and Gettig. It stands at the head of the National Guard of the State, its average being 98.85. Only one company is its equal and that is Capt. John W. Borland's Company M, of the Sixteenth regiment, which company ties Company B.

This is certainly a great honor to Company B and the boys may well be proud of it. When the news reached here Wednesday it created much enthusiasm in military circles.

Captain Taylor deserves all kinds of praise and credit for the hard and painstaking effort which he has put forth to make the Bellefonte boys rank where they do today.

The averages of the different companies in the Fifth regiment are as follows:

Company	A.....	87.14
"	B.....	98.85
"	C.....	90.
"	D.....	93.42
"	E.....	74.28
"	F.....	95.42
"	G.....	84.

Golden Wedding.

After living together a happy married life of fifty years, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Luse, of Millheim, on Tuesday celebrated their golden wedding, surrounded by all but three of their children who were unable to attend.

There were present Mr. and Mrs. James D. Luse and son, of Williamsport; Mrs. Irvin Luse and son, of Pittsburg, Mrs. Michael Maize and two children, of Baltimore; Mrs. Joseph Herald and child, of Lime, Conn.; Mrs. William Beard and three children, of Sparrows Point, Md., and John W. Luse and son, Strohm, of Bellefonte. A number of the intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Luse were also present.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Parrish's Drug Store.

Wildcat, Bear and Monkey Were this Man's Bedfellows.

Tuesday afternoon the Williamsport Board of Health was called upon to make an investigation that revealed the fact that a man in the eastern end of that city makes his home with a black bear, a wildcat and a monkey and at night the animals cuddle up close to him, and together the quartet pass the night in sleep, says the Sun.

Sears, the owner of the animals, is a laborer at the Susquehanna dye works, where he has been employed for about a year. He is 34 years of age, and at the works is familiarly known as "Barnum." Prior to coming to Williamsport he was the owner of a number of animals, which he exhibited at county fairs, etc. When he arrived the bear now in his possession came with him, and some time later he secured the wildcat, which is as big as an ordinary hunting dog and said to be vicious to any person other than Sears. The monkey is a comparative stranger to the other members of the family, he having reached Williamsport less than three months ago.

The animals are kept in the barn at all times and when Sears has succeeded in training them he will again be ready to start his miniature circus. The Board of Health say that so long as the animals are kept clean they have no objections to the owner sleeping with them.

A Lock Haven Lady Weds.

Miss Edith Michaels, a Lock Haven lady, who has quite frequently visited here, was married in that city Thursday morning. In speaking of it the Lock Haven Democrat says:

A wedding was solemnized at East Main street M. E. parsonage Thursday morning when Rev. W. R. Picken united for life H. S. Edwards, of Corning, N. Y., and Miss Edith Michaels, of this city. Mr. Edwards is an energetic, upright young man, and a machinist by trade, being employed at the shops of the Imperial Engine company. Miss Michaels is the daughter of Captain G. T. Michaels, and is an estimable and highly accomplished young lady. She is a member of Trinity M. E. choir and is one of the leading alto singers of this city, being possessed with a voice of great sweetness.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left Thursday afternoon for Corning, and will begin housekeeping at once in their already furnished rooms.

Had a Green Mould.

A number of young men in an Ohio town recently captured a tramp, subjected him to a bath and a shave and haircut, and then presented him with a new suit of clothes. The victim went through his course of sprouts without a murmur until his captors built a fire and announced their intention of burning his discarded clothes, whereupon he showed fight. The police then took a hand in the frolic, and subsequently discovered that the tramp's prejudice against the burning of his ragged garments was due to the fact that he had $1,440 sewed up in the lining of his coat.

Altoona to Have New Temple for Shriners.

Efforts are being made by members of the Mystic Shrine of Altoona to erect a new temple in that city. A petition from the 300 members in the Mountain City will be presented to the Imperial Council of the Shriners which meets in Saratoga this month for a charter, which will quite likely be granted. There are sixty odd Shriners in Johnstown who will be asked to unite with the members in Altoona in building the temple.

BLIND-FOLD.

Blindfold a woman and she loses all confidence in herself. Her step is slow, hesitating and uncertain. Her hands are raised to ward the imaginary blows which threaten her. When a sick woman seeks the means of health she is often like a woman blindfold. She has no confidence. She cannot tell what her effort will lead to. She turns now to this side and then to the other in uncertainty and doubt.

The sick woman who uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription may do so with absolute confidence. It invites open-eyed investigation. There need be no hesitation in following the hundreds of thousands of women who have found a perfect cure for womanly ills in the use of this medicine.

"Favorite Prescription" cures irregularity and dries weakening drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"With a heart full of gratitude to you for sending out over the land your wonderful medicine I send these few lines, hoping that some poor suffering women will try Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Cora L. Root, of Greenspring Furnace, Washington Co., Maryland. "I had suffered severly from female weakness and had to be in bed a great deal of the time. Had headache, backache, and pain in left side when lying down. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and had not taken two bottles when I was able to be around again and do my work with but little pain. Can now eat anything and it never hurts me any more. Have taken seven bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and one of his 'Compound Extract of Smart-Weed and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' Feeling better every day. My husband says I look better every day."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

SUICIDE'S ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.

Contained in Letter Found on Youth Who Shot Himself.

St. Louis, July 6.—The body of a man supposed to be John Flett was discovered in Forest Park on the north side of Sylvan drive, near Union avenue, by Martin Clark, of 1109 Monroe street. There was a bullet wound in his right temple and one behind his right ear, and a 38-calibre revolver lay by his side.

Officers Kilroy and Horneker, of the mounted district, ordered the body removed to the Morgue. A letter addressed to John Flett, 102 Piassa street, Alton, Ill., was found in the dead man's pocket, and that is supposed to be his name.

The dead man was about 28 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighed 150 pounds, had sandy hair, smooth shaven face and was dressed in shabby black clothes. Two letters which he had written and sealed were found on him. One was addressed to Mrs. J. Couper, West Broad street, Danville, Ontario, and the other to the public.

The letter to the public follows:

To Whom It May Concern: Please have my body shipped to our family burial lot, Chippewa, Ontario, Canada.

Notify Mr. John Flett, care of Flett, Lowndess & Co., Toronto, Ontario.

Personal—I am 24 years old. Blasted hopes, caused by my own folly, has caused me to do this. Tell some paper to publish this article:

To All Youths: My Dear Boy Friends—I am going to give you a little advice. Take it. I am 24 years old, left school when I was 15, had an excellent mother and father, who loved me. I secured a position in a bank, began to go out nights and there is the foundation, the starting point of all my blasted hopes.

Boys, do not go out night nor frequent saloons. Saloons and most places which appeal to your pleasure, if pandered to, will surely bring you to a bad end. Stay home with mother and father or accompany them somewhere. Always choose your company. Guard your honor, as it is priceless. If once lost it can never be regained.

Make a confident of mother, and when the time comes for you to enter into life as a citizen, in whatever capacity you may enter, be sure of your surroundings and your company. If circumstances permit, stay by the old home, be it ever so humble, as it is far superior to the grandest hotel life.

Be fair. Be honest. Honor your mother and father. Do not lie or ever prevaricate and success will be yours eventually.

Important Decision.

After a long contested lawsuit, brought against him by an English manufacturing firm of woolen goods, James Talcott a dry goods merchant of New York, was given a decision which is of importance to all buyers and sellers of dry goods by samples. The decision, which is by the court of appeals, and which reverse that of the court below, will be considered a precedent in the trial of similar suits. By it Talcott is not compelled to pay $17,028, claimed by the foreign house for goods, which, he says, were not "up to sample." "If a merchant purchased goods, by sample and finds that they are not equal in quality to the sample, he need not return them to the sender in order to recover for breach of warranty." This is the substance of the opinion given by Judge Van, of the court of appeals. The adjudication of the point is welcomed by all dry goods firms.

Greek Letter Reunion as a Fair Feature.

The idea of having a great reunion of the Greek Letter Societies during the World's Fair in St. Louis next year is receiving much attention among college men. It was first suggested by President Francis of the World's Fair at a dinner given in his honor by the Beta Theta Pi of St. Louis, made up largely of the alumni of Washington University of which President Francis is a graduate.

The speaker recalled that 28 Greek Letter Fraternities of the American colleges boasted a membership of about 130,000. He believed it would be an admirable thing to bring them together at the fair.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Annexation Easy.

Governor Pennypacker approved an Act of Assembly on April 22 which will facilitate the annexation of adjacent territory to a borough. The full text of the act is as follows:

"That the Burgess and Council of any borough or incorporated town shall have power, on petition of a majority of the freehold owners of any lots or outlots of any section of land lying adjacent to said borough or incorporated town, to declare by ordinance the admission of such lots or outlots. Whenever the borough or town authorities shall extend the limits of such borough or town, as aforesaid, they shall file in the court of quarter sessions of the proper county a plan or plot showing the boundary both of the original borough or town and of the section admitted together with the certified copy of the ordinance, and a description of the boundaries both of the original borough or town and of the borough or town as extended, giving the courses and distances at length; which section shall, after filing of the matter as aforesaid, be deemed part of said borough or town, and subject to its jurisdiction and government.

"All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed."

The old law was mandatory upon the borough council, and gave it no discretion, but permitted an appeal to the grand jury on the question of expediency. The new act is not mandatory upon the borough council, but allows it to decide as to the expediency. Apparently there is no appeal to the grand jury.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

When the stomach is overloaded, when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by Parrish's Drug Store.

Newton Hamilton Campmeeting.

The thirty-first annual campmeeting at Newton Hamilton opens on August 13 and closes on August 24. The grounds shall be open for occupancy this year on July 15, so that any person wishing to occupy their tents at that time can do so. Seats have been erected through the grove. New closets have been erected. These grounds are so well known that no commendation is necessary—grand scenery, abundance of pure water, beautiful shade; a grand place to send your family for a couple of weeks. The hotel will be open on and after July 15, 1903, so that persons can secure meals and lodging by giving notice a day or two in advance of their proposed visit. These beautiful grounds are at Newton Hamilton, on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, eighty-three miles west of Harrisburg and forty-nine miles east of Altoona.

Persons wishing to secure tents should made application to J. K. Rhodes, Lewistown, Pa., or to Miles Appleby, Newton Hamilton, Pa., who resides on the grounds. John D. Gill, Jr., of this place, will also be pleased to furnish our people with any information desired.

JUST ABOUT BEDTIME.

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by Parrish's Drug Store.

Chances for Young Deweys.

Never in our history, in times of peace, was there such a chance for the budding Paul Jones, Deweys and Farragute. The Academy at Annapolis is yawning for 306 young men who will become the captains of oceanic war in case we ever come to another conflict. This is a situation that is absolutely unparalleled. Usually the demand on West Point and Annapolis cannot be accommodated. But the latter institution wants more young men than are apparently available.

Congress has for many years been building ships and forgetting to provide officers. At last action was taken which it is hoped will help fill the vacancy. Congressmen have nominated youths to wear the stripes and many have failed to pass muster.

Built in a Day.

Some years ago at Bellwood, Pa., a two-story frame house 18x26, with stone foundation wall, was built, plastered, painted and delivered to the owner in one day for about $800. To all intents and purposes it was like other houses. The material, of course, was all ready. It takes our Centre county contractors as a rule something longer to complete a house these days.

GEARHART—FOX.

Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at the Parish house of St. John's Catholic church, Mr. Howard F. Gearhart and Miss Mary Teresa Fox were united in holy bonds of wedlock, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Patrick McArdle. There were only a few of the very near relatives present. Mr. Russel Blair was the best man and Miss Ann Fox, a sister of the bride was the maid of honor.

The bride looked very sweet and pretty. She was attired in a costume of white chiffon over white silk. The maid of honor was becomingly costumed in white silk trimmed with real lace and wore a large white hat. Both the bride and bridesmaid carried bouquets of roses.

Immediately following the wedding a large dinner party and reception was given the bride and groom at the home of the bride's mother on East Bishop street, where more than one hundred guests were assembled to tender their congratulations to the happy young couple who are very popular in Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. Gearhart departed on the 8:16 train for their wedding tour which they will spend in Philadelphia, Atlantic City, West Point, New York and Clearfield.

The bride is the daughter of the late Joseph Fox, and is a bright and attractive young lady. Her husband is a native of Clearfield but since coming to Bellefonte has won many friends who will wish him much happiness in his wedded life. He is agent for the Adams Express Company at this place.

Take Advantage of the New Road Law.

By the enactment of the new road law the state has made it possible for any townships to have good roads, and with the principal cost off the state. Whenever the people of a township are willing to pay $1 for good roads the county will be required to pay an equal amount, and the state will add $4 for every $2 provided by the county and in addition furnish the help of the state highways commissioner in making the roads.

It is hoped that township authorities in this section of the state will take the matter up and get early advantage of the provisions of the new law. Besides the comfort they provide, good roads are a great saving to vehicles, and larger loads can be hauled with less effort on part of horses and less wear to wagon. Just as paved streets are coming to be an essential to a town if it desires to keep up with the procession, good roads in a country community are necessary. It is not the thing any more for wagons and other vehicles to plough through muddy streets. It should not now be neccessary to batter wagons and other vehicles to pieces over rough, rocky roads, since the state has made such liberal provisions for aiding in the construction of comfortable highways.

Work for systematic procedure should be inaugurated at once. Pennsylvania is way behind many of the other states in the matter of good roads. The object of the new road law is to inaugurate and stimulate a general movement which will at as early a date as possible make the roads throughout the state of Pennsylvania not only comfortable but equal in every other way to those of sister states. The state of Pennsylvania is thoroughly enterprising in most things. It should be abreast if not ahead of other states in the matter of good roads, and the way to get them is for township authorities to take up the question in their several localities and push it with all speed consistent with accuracy and economy.
